

Gilead Sciences Announces Leadership Changes in Corporate Development and Strategy

June 4, 2018

– Andrew Dickinson Promoted to Executive Vice President, Corporate Development and Strategy; Martin Silverstein, Executive Vice President, Strategy, to Leave Gilead at End of August –

FOSTER CITY, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jun. 4, 2018-- Gilead Sciences, Inc. (NASDAQ: GILD) today announced the promotion of Andrew Dickinson to Executive Vice President, Corporate Development and Strategy, with responsibility for Gilead's corporate development, alliance management, competitive intelligence, and corporate strategy and planning functions, effective immediately. Mr. Dickinson will become a member of Gilead's senior leadership team. The company also announced that Martin Silverstein, Executive Vice President, Strategy, has decided to leave Gilead at the end of August to return to the East Coast.

Mr. Dickinson joined Gilead in 2016 as Senior Vice President, Corporate Development. He led the acquisitions of Kite Pharma, Inc. and Cell Design Labs, Inc., and has been instrumental in reshaping Gilead's approach to corporate development, increasing the volume and types of agreements that the company has entered into during his tenure. Prior to joining Gilead, Mr. Dickinson served as Global Co-Head of Healthcare Investment Banking for Lazard. At Lazard, he advised on numerous, industry-defining merger and acquisition transactions, as well as many other strategic matters across the biopharmaceutical industry. Mr. Dickinson received his bachelor's degree in molecular, cellular and developmental biology from the University of Colorado and his law degree from Loyola University Chicago.

"Andy has brought to Gilead vision, creativity and leadership, fundamentally changing the way that we assess and execute acquisitions and partnerships as an organization," said John F. Milligan, PhD, President and Chief Executive Officer of Gilead. "His deep understanding of the industry has helped guide Gilead's strategy and will be critical to our future success."

Dr. Silverstein will remain at Gilead through the end of August, working with Mr. Dickinson and other leaders to transition his duties.

"I'm grateful to Marty for his exceptional work to strengthen Gilead's strategic planning and vision, and ensure that we are well-positioned for future growth, as we seek to bring the next generation of medicines forward for patients with unmet medical needs," said Dr. Milligan. "We understand his decision to eliminate the bicoastal schedule he has kept since joining Gilead and be closer to his family, and wish him the very best in the next phase of his career."
